In the house a few new bills were introduced this morning and the senate resolution asking for a joint session at 2 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon to take up the Peabody contest was adopted by the house after a good deal of argument on the part of the Democratic representatives who wanted to allow Governor Adams till January 25 to prepare his answer. Nothing else of importance was done.

The speaker announced the appointment of the following committee on resolutions for deceased members: Stewart, Brown, Frewen, MacKenzie and Brown.

ST. JOSEPH, MO., Jan. 13.—Percy Chamberlain denies the report sent out from Omaha that the St. Joseph Western league ball club has been sold to Roy Runcie of St. Paul, supposed to represent the Tebeau and Burns interests. The citizens of St. Joseph have raised a fund of $4,000 with which to start the local team next season, and Chamberlain will continue at its head.

DAWSON IS SELECTED TO SUCCEED CHIEF CROWDER

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 13.—A special meeting of the city council was held at 4 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of electing a successor to Chief of Police Crowder, who resigned late last evening.

There were four candidates in the field early this morning. By noon two of these were out of the race. "Doc" Dawson was chosen. His opponent was Fred Hardy, present night marshal.

Mrs. S. M. Corrick, of this city, is seriously ill in Denver with hemorrhage of the stomach and will be unable to return to her home for some time.

[illegible] BUSINESS

Occupies Most of the Time of Both Houses of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The senate today passed the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill and also a number of private pension bills. The questions of granting pensions for service in the Indian police and of allowing gratuities for injuries received in the government employ were debated.

A bill extending the law relative to the intimidation of witnesses in federal courts was passed.

A bill authorizing the payment of $3,000 to Charles S. Hooper, a blacksmith, who lost an eye while in the employment of the government, after a prolonged debate, was passed, 25 to 23.

After passing a large number of pension bills, the senate, after a brief executive session, adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Further consideration was given in the house to the impeachment charges against Judge Charles Swayne of the Northern district of Florida. Today there was a noticeable lack of interest in the case except among a few members. Mr. Littlefield of Maine asserted that there had been "no hunting" of Judge Swayne until as a result of the O'Neal contempt case in which O'Neal sought to get his revenge on Judge Swayne and charged that since O'Neal died his funds were to an extent carrying on the prosecution. Messrs. Powers of Massachusetts and Perkins of New York spoke for impeachment while Parker of New Jersey opposed such action.

The Swayne charges were laid aside and the house adjourned.

[illegible] ASSOCIATION

MINING MEN OF THE DISTRICT TO ATTEND MEETING IN COLORADO SPRINGS—ANOTHER DRAINAGE PLAN.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 13.—Practically all of the mine owners and operators in the district belonging to the Mine Owners' association are preparing to leave for Colorado Springs tomorrow morning to attend the association meeting which takes place tomorrow afternoon. A successor to Secretary C. C. Hamlin will be selected.

During the meeting a plan of drainage for the district will probably be submitted. From all accounts this will be the plan classed as plan No. 2, recently published in the Gazette, which means that the portal of the tunnel will be located some 14,500 feet distant from the El Paso shaft and will end in the region of the Vindicator mine.

The tunnel will be driven at an elevation of 8,050 feet above sea level and will lower the water about 730 feet below the present drainage tunnel level. The plan as already submitted will take in the neighborhood of two and one-half years to complete, will cost $25 per foot to drive with a total cost of close to $4,000,000.

[illegible] SENATOR

A Witness Says Smoot Got "Leave of Absence" to Run for Senator.

[illegible] PANICS

IS THE DESCRIPTION GIVEN BY MR. WHITECOTTON OF PRESIDENT JOSEPH SMITH.—CLAIM POLYGAMY IS DYING OUT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Three witnesses for the defense in the Smoot case today testified that polygamy was dying out in Utah so rapidly that there was no need of prosecutions. It was declared that the younger Mormons are all opposed to polygamy and that if they thought it was taught there would be a revolution in the church.

It was admitted that Senator Smoot got the consent of the church to become a candidate for senator but only in the form of a leave of absence from his church duties, and it was declared that he could have been nominated and elected without it.

Attorney Whitecotton, of Provo, continued his review of political affairs in Utah during the morning session.

Cross-Examined Whitecotton.

At the afternoon session Judge Tayler, counsel for the protestants, cross-examined Mr. Whitecotton. The witness, when asked if President Joseph Smith had said that if he observed the custom which prevailed generally on the subject of marriage relations "he would be eternally damned," replied that it would not surprise him, because Smith was a "thorough fanatic."

The witness said the act of Apostle Merrill, who is the husband of several wives, in performing the ceremony uniting his son to a plural wife, met his hearty disapproval and that the "whole outfit ought to be prosecuted." He had no doubt of the marriage of Apostle Cannon to Lillian Hamlin and said the controversy waged was not whether there had been such a marriage but who performed the ceremony.

H. E. Booth, of Salt Lake, a non-Mormon lawyer, who went to Utah from Iowa in 1885 and has been active in the politics of Utah, asserted that the Mormon church as a church did not interfere in political affairs but that individuals took an interest in politics the same way that other citizens did.

Says Polygamy Is Dead.

"I believe polygamy is as dead as slavery. Eighty to ninety per cent of the Mormons themselves are opposed to plural marriages."

Mr. Booth testified that sympathy was with the women who were married in polygamy and that there was a disinclination to prosecute the polygamists for that reason. He said he thought polygamy would die out soon of itself and that it was better to permit this rather than to prosecute husbands and leave their plural wives as outcasts.

He said his observation was that there had been no plural marriages with the sanction of the church except perhaps the case of Abraham Cannon. He asserted there would be an immediate revolution in the church if the president of it should sanction plural marriages.

The witness said that Senator Smoot's candidates for the legislature would have been defeated if it had not been for the Gentiles. There was no question but that Mr. Smoot received church consent to run for senator but he believed Mr. Smoot would have been nominated and elected had that consent been refused. He thought if conditions were allowed to go on as they were now, in a few years nothing would be heard of the Mormon question.

Conditions Are Changing.

On cross-examination Mr. Booth insisted that he had been a consistent opponent of polygamy all through his residence in Utah but said conditions could not be changed any more rapidly than they were changing. Concerning non-prosecutions Mr. Booth admitted on cross-examination that on both sides of his home President Smith maintained houses for his wives but that until the Smoot hearing he had never heard that polygamous cohabitation had been practiced since the manifesto.

Asked by Senator Dubois if his sympathy for children born in polygamy is "great enough to put a stop to bringing them into the world," the witness replied:

"It is, if a stop could be put to it without visiting penalties and hardships on those women who bring them into the world. If you can suggest a way to meet this problem I will adopt it and carry it out."

Chairman Burrow asked Mr. Booth if an amendment to the constitution of the United States prohibiting polygamy would be effective and received the answer that it was not necessary. With, as said he, thought it would put an end to polygamy.

On cross-examination of Mr. Taylor both admitted that the prosecutions of Abner Mormons was regarded by many members of the church as an especial badge of honor.

Women and Children Suffer.

Arthur Pratt, warden of the Utah penitentiary and a son of Orson Pratt, who was an authority on church affairs, testified that he never had been a member of the Mormon church. He declared that from 1875 when he arrested George Reynolds, and down to 1890, he had arrested more Mormons on charges of polygamous cohabitation than any other officer. He said the arests entailed a great deal of suffering among the Mormon people and that it was the women and children who got the worst of the prosecutions. He said there could be no question as to the decrease of polygamy since 1890, and added that as supervisor of the census he was in a position to have the best information on that subject.

Mr. Pratt testified that he had served six years as chief of police at Salt Lake City and under the territorial government he had been United States marshal and deputy United States marshal.

Angus Cannon, the witness said, had a bad reputation and his word could not be credited.

Mr. Pratt denied that at this time the politics of Utah was divided among party lines, some Mormons having been set apart to be Republican and some to be Democrats. He said in the three years Joseph Smith had been president the church had been kept out of politics, but before that time it had been a factor.

[illegible] CASE REVIVED

ADVERTISEMENT IN A PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND, PAPER STARTS PEOPLE TO GUESSING. RUMORS OF A FORTUNE.

Special to the Gazette.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 13.—The famous T. Thatcher Graves murder case bobs up again in this advertisement which appeared in a local newspaper today:

"Dr. T. Thatcher. Wanted—The name and address of any of Dr. T. Thatcher Graves' relatives or intimate friends. They can learn something of interest to them. Address, H. U., P. O. Box 236, Longmont, Colo."

There have been of late a number of sensational rumors on the famous case and it has been persistently circulated here and in Danielson, Conn., where Mrs. Graves resides, that a fortune of $60,000 has come to light.

Attorney Ballou, counsel for Graves, said this afternoon that he had absolutely nothing to say about the case. It was known that Detective Parker, who died this week, had been working on some feature of the great murder mystery recently.

Stephenson and C. E. Dingman, she alleging that the defendants are guilty of tort and of using malice, fraud and willful deceit in obtaining the money from her husband.

POSTAL PROGRESS LEAGUE OFFICERS ATTACK PLATT

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—At a meeting of the Postal Progress league in Cooper union tonight Chairman Post of Battle Creek, Mich., said he had prepared papers and would ask the United States supreme court for a restraining order to prevent Senator Thomas C. Platt from taking his seat. He said he would take this action on the ground that Mr. Platt subverts the interests of the people he has sworn to represent in the interest of a corporation he really represents. The affair relates to the parcels post.

COLD IN NEBRASKA.

OMAHA, Jan. 13.—Last night was the coldest night of the winter, the thermometer going as low as 34 degrees below zero at 6 o'clock this morning. At Norfolk 26 below zero is reported, the coldest weather in that vicinity for many years.

[illegible] STOCKMEN'S ASSOCIATION

Cattle, Horse and Swine Growers Secede and Form New Organization—Trouble Over the Packers and Railroads.

DENVER, Jan. 13.—The National Live Stock association was rent in twain today by the adoption of a new constitution which admitted the packers to membership, and provided an open door through which the railroads of the country might at any time become factors in the control of the organization. The cattlemen, horse, and swine growers, together with the affiliated industries refused to agree to a new constitution and withdrew when they considered its adoption probable and this afternoon formed a new organization under the name of the American Stock Growers' association, whose aim it will be to wield a dominating influence in the interest of the cattle grower.

Roughly speaking, the sheep growers, commission men and the stock yards interests remained with the National Live Stock association and the actual growers of all other animals for the market have gone with the new association. The cattlemen have from the first strongly opposed the admission to their organization of the packers and particularly of the railroads. They claimed that these two influences would ultimately dominate the cattle growing industry of the country to the detriment of the grower and they refused to remain in an organization which included their representatives among the members of its controlling body.

Long and Warm Session.

The defection in the ranks of the association came after a long session in which the arguments were at times torrid, and where the parliamentary tangles were so frequent and so complex that it was impossible to follow them. Many of them were not followed. Motions would be made, placed before the house and never voted upon. At times there would be several motions before the house at one time, and they would all drop together by the wayside when the convention went helter skelter after something else. Vice President Jastro at one time acted as presiding officer and declared out of order a motion to adjourn.

"Ain't motions to adjourn always in order?" demanded the delegate who made it.

"Not just now they ain't," replied the vice president, who was anxious to bring about a vote on the proposed constitution before allowing the convention to adjourn.

Reports On Reorganization.

At the opening of the convention majority and minority reports were submitted by the committees that had been appointed yesterday to consider the plan of reorganization. The former, which came from the cattlemen, was read by S. H. Cowan of Texas and recommended that only stockmen be admitted to membership and that all visiting stockmen be allowed to vote on the plan of reorganization. It declared against a combination with stock yards, packers or railroads.

The minority report, submitted by E. R. Gosney of Arizona, was in favor of allowing only such delegates to vote as were members of the National Live Stock association in good standing.

After a wrangle that lasted for hours and during which the convention wandered hither and thither, the majority report was adopted.

Preparing to Vote.

President Hagenbarth of the association then declared that up to this time the convention had been of a general character and not a convention of the members of the National Live Stock association who alone could vote on the adoption of the proposed plan of reorganization. The courtesies of the convention to visiting stockmen, he declared, were about to cease and a session of the association proper would be held. An effort was then made to call the delegates of the association to order but no roll of the members was at hand, and when one was brought it was incomplete, and it required something over an hour for the first calling of the roll.

During an interval of the roll call Mr. MacKenzie of Colorado discussed the happenings in the committee room. He declared that President Hagenbarth had told him that $40,000 would be necessary to run the association. He asked where the $40,000 was coming from and Mr. Hagenbarth assured him that the cattlemen would not be asked to put up one cent of the money.

Matter of Control.

Mr. MacKenzie gave it as his opinion that if outside parties were putting up the money they would aim to control the organization and he urged the live stock men to stand together, and get congress and the president to come to their aid when it was necessary.

During Mr. MacKenzie's speech President Hagenbarth ruled him out of order and ruled that his time had expired, but other delegates gave him their time and urged him to continue his remarks.

Mr. Cowan discussed the proposed amendment at some length. He declared that no section of it was germane to any section of the constitution it proposed to amend. The president was at this time, he said, investigating the alleged Beef Trust, and what would be the effect on public opinion if the cattlemen formed an alliance with the men who are being investigated by the government.

Pertinent Query.

"President Roosevelt sent a message to congress," said Mr. Cowan, "saying 'I am with you.' What is he going to think if we go to bed with the very men he is investigating?"

He closed by declaring that if the plan of organization was passed, the cattlemen must withdraw.

Ex-Senator Harris of Kansas spoke strongly in favor of the adoption of the proposed amendment, asserting that the stockmen would have as much power in the organization as anybody and declaring that Mr. Cowan and the cattlemen should rather endeavor to eliminate objectionable features in the amendment than talk of secession. Ex-President John Springer of the association made a passionate appeal for the delegates to do everything in their power to avoid a rupture and moved that the entire matter be referred to the incoming executive committee with instructions to have both the old and new constitutions printed six months in advance of the next convention at which time it could be considered. The motion was lost by a vote of 205 to 273, the sheepmen and stock yard interests constituting the majority.

Membership.

W. E. Hughes of Denver moved that all the visiting stockmen be allowed to vote. They had been invited, he said, to attend the convention had taken part in the proceedings up to the present time and now when the vote was to be taken they were told that they could not vote. He was ruled out of order by the president, and Mr. Cowan appealed from the decision of the chair. The appeal after various vicissitudes was lost and not heard of again. The report of the committee on organization was then read. It recommended that the following be entitled to membership: Cattle, sheep, horse and swine breeders, pure breed record associations, stock exchanges, stock yards, stock feeders, packers and "such other branches as may be approved by the central committee."

Basis of Representation.

The basis of representation was recommended to be as follows:

All branches of the industry to be represented by a committee of persons engaged in such branches and such committee to be known as the general committee of the branch it represents.

Each state live stock association to be entitled to a maximum of 50 delegates but in no case shall it have less than ten delegates. Where no general state organization exists the particular interests are entitled to the following representation: Each state association and each association of sheep, horse and swine growers and every association of stock feeders, ten delegates; each pure breed record association a maximum of ten and a minimum of five delegates; each stock yards association a maximum of three and a minimum of one delegate; each stock exchange one delegate for every 25 members with a minimum of three delegates; each packing house interest a maximum of ten delegates with a minimum of two; all official boards of organizations a maximum of five with a minimum of two delegates.

Each general committee representing an industry to select one of its members as a representative in the executive body of the association.

Cattlemen Withdraw.

The question of the adoption of the amendment was then before the house and as soon as the clerk commenced the calling of the roll the cattlemen began to leave the hall in large numbers. Mr. MacKenzie announced that he desired all the cattlemen to meet at 2:30 o'clock. The new constitutional amendment was adopted by a vote of 253 to 60.

At the afternoon session of the Live Stock association a resolution was adopted increasing the time limit for the transportation of live stock from 28 to 36 hours. A resolution was adopted favoring reciprocity treaties with foreign countries which have placed a ban on American live stock as a means of relieving the glutted condition of the American market.

The cattlemen who had left the convention gathered at the Brown Palace hotel in the afternoon and appointed a committee of 15 to present a plan for a new organization. Its report, which was unanimously adopted recommended that a temporary president be apointed to hold office until May 9, when a general convention for the purposes of a permanent organization will be held in Denver. John W. Springer, a former president of the National Live Stock association was elected president until the May convention.

In the new organization the representation is to be one of individual members only and it will not be an amalgamation of associations as is the case with the older organization.

At a meeting of the National Live Stock association held tonight the central committee which is the governing body of the association, was announced as follows:

H. A. Jastro, cattle growers; Jesse Smith, sheep growers; H. W. McAfee, horse growers; A. L. Lovejoy, swine growers; W. A. Harris, pure breed record association; Frank Cooper, live stock exchanges; A. G. Leonard, stock yards; Nelson Morris, packers; C. P. Dulley, goat raisers. The committee re-elected President Frank Hagenbarth and passed a resolution thanking him for his work and expressing confidence in him as an official.

The minor officers will be selected tomorrow morning.

LEGISLATORS IN JOINT SESSION TUESDAY

After Argument and Opposition by Democrats the House Agrees to Joint Session Next Tuesday to Hear Peabody Contest.

Special to the Gazette.

DENVER, Jan. 13.—Both branches of the legislature adjourned at noon today until 10 o'clock Monday morning. Most of the senators and representatives left this afternoon for their homes although some remained to attend committee meetings held in the afternoon to outline work. Representative C. P. Dodge and Senator De La Vergne left for Colorado Springs this afternoon. Senator Arthur Cornforth will go home tomorrow morning to spend Saturday and Sunday. Representative Stephen will remain in Denver.

In the house a few new bills were introduced this morning and the senate resolution asking for a joint session at 2 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon to take up the Peabody contest was adopted by the house after a good deal of argument on the part of the Democratic representatives who wanted to allow Governor Adams till January 25 to prepare his answer. Nothing else of importance was done.

The governor's contest petition was received and the resolution for the Tuesday joint session was adopted.

House adjourned until Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Committee Clerks.

The following clerks were appointed for the various committees:

It has always been customary for the different chairmen to meet and select their own clerks. The position of clerk of a committee is a very responsible position and the chairman usually selects a clerk after investigation. In this case the speaker took the appointment of clerks into his own hands.

PERCY CHAMBERLAIN

Denies Story of Sale of St. Joseph Team to Buncie—Says He Will Continue at Head.

ST. JOSEPH, MO., Jan. 13.—Percy Chamberlain denies the report sent out from Omaha that the St. Joseph Western league ball club has been sold to Roy Buncie of St. Paul, supposed to represent the Tebeau and Burns interests. The citizens of St. Joseph have raised a fund of $4,000 with which to start the local team next season, and Chamberlain will continue at its head.

DAWSON IS SELECTED TO SUCCEED CHIEF CROWDER

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 13.—A special meeting of the city council was held at 4 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of electing a successor to Chief of Police Crowder, who resigned late last evening.

There were four candidates in the field early this morning. By noon two of these were out of the race. "Doc" Dawson was chosen. His opponent was Fred Hardy, present night marshal.

Mrs. S. M. Corrick, of this city, is seriously ill in Denver with hemorrhage of the stomach and will be unable to return to her home for some time.

The Sunday Gazette and Telegraph

Will contain more than the usual number of good things tomorrow. Here are a few of them:

"Acres of Canvas Wasted." How dozens of would-be artists haunt the great art galleries of New York, making worthless copies of great pictures.

"Millionaire Harriman's Daughters Take to Cross-Country Riding." A story that will interest every lover of out-door sports. Both of these articles are illustrated with half-tones made from photographs specially taken for them.

"The Resurvey of Cripple Creek." A summary of the report recently issued by the Geological Survey. Not dry-as-dust statistics, but good live descriptive matter about the world's greatest gold camp.

"The Passing of Steam." How electricity is supplanting the steam engine in the great power houses and also on railways.

"Origin and Uses of the Natural Gas at Manitou," by Professor William Strieby of Colorado college. This is the fourth in the series of popular science articles written for the Sunday Gazette and Telegraph by members of the college faculty, and will well repay a careful reading.

"The Lord Mayor of London and His Show." How the man who presides over swell official functions in the British capital is inducted into office.

There will be a full page of dramatic news and another of sporting news. A full page will be devoted to the El Paso club ball, and in addition there will be two full pages of society news. Women's interests will be looked after in three special feature pages, one of which describes the current craze for picture hats.

The Sunday Gazette and Telegraph will have all the news and feature stories of every kind.

IT WILL BE THE BEST EVER

SENATE BUSINESS

Occupies Most of the Time of Both Houses of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The senate today passed the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill and also a number of private pension bills. The questions of granting pensions for service in the Indian police and of allowing gratuities for injuries received in the government employ were debated.

A bill extending the law relative to the intimidation of witnesses in federal courts was passed.

A bill authorizing the payment of $3,000 to Charles S. Hooper, a blacksmith, who lost an eye while in the employment of the government, after a prolonged debate, was passed, 25 to 23.

After passing a large number of pension bills the senate, after a brief executive session, adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Further consideration was given in the house to the impeachment charges against Judge Charles Swayne of the Northern district of Florida. Today there was a noticeable lack of interest in the case except among a few members. Mr. Littlefield of Maine asserted that there had been "no hunting" of Judge Swayne until as a result of the O'Neal contempt case in which O'Neal sought to get his revenge on Judge Swayne and charged that since O'Neal died his funds were to an extent carrying on the prosecution. Messrs. Powers of Massachusetts and Perkins of New York spoke for impeachment while Parker of New Jersey opposed such action.

The Swayne charges were laid aside and the house adjourned.

THE SMELTERS ASSOCIATION

MINING MEN OF THE DISTRICT TO ATTEND MEETING IN COLORADO SPRINGS—ANOTHER DRAINAGE PLAN.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 13.—Practically all of the mine owners and operators in the district belonging to the Mine Owners' association are preparing to leave for Colorado Springs tomorrow morning to attend the association meeting which takes place tomorrow afternoon. A successor to Secretary C. C. Hamlin will be selected.

During the meeting a plan of drainage for the district will probably be submitted. From all accounts this will be the plan classed as plan No. 2, recently published in the Gazette, which means that the portal of the tunnel will be located some 14,500 feet distant from the El Paso shaft and will end in the region of the Vindicator mine.

The tunnel will be driven at an elevation of 8,050 feet above sea level and will lower the water about 730 feet below the present drainage tunnel level. The plan as already submitted will take in the neighborhood of two and one-half years to complete, will cost $25 per foot to drive with a total cost of close to $4,000,000.

STRIKE AFFECTS ALL MINERS

MINER ON THE ELKTON SUFFERING FROM FIFTH INJURY SUSTAINED IN THE PAST SIX MONTHS—WILL RECOVER.

Special to the Gazette.

VICTOR, Jan. 13.—E. J. Smith, employed as a miner on the Elkton property received two bad scalp wounds early this morning by falling rock.

Mr. Smith was operating a machine drill in the 800-foot level when a large slab of rock fell striking him on his head and shoulders with the above result. He was immediately taken to the McKenzie hospital in this city where his injuries were attended.

Mr. Smith has met with five different accidents during the last six months during that time having had his limbs fractured his spine injured and several gashes in his head. He has pulled through all and tonight stated that his present injuries would not keep him from his work for more than a few days.

RAILROAD PAY DAY

Superintendent Middagh of the Cripple Creek Consolidated Will Pay Out $50,000 to Employes of the Lines.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 13.—Supt. Middagh of the Cripple Creek Consolidated Railway company, starts out tomorrow morning to distribute $50,000 in salaries to employes at various points along the Florence and Cripple Creek and Midland Terminal roads.

The best part of this pay day is the fact that over 65 per cent. of this money is distributed with employes residing in the district, which means that a good part of that amount will go to the local merchants.

FREE PASS QUESTION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Representative Shepard of Texas introduced a bill today prohibiting the payment of mileage to senators and members who ride on free passes.

SMOOT CASE CLOSED

A Witness Says Smoot Got "Leave of Absence" to Run for Senator.

TEST OF SENATE

IS THE DESCRIPTION GIVEN BY MR. WHITECOTTON OF PRESIDENT JOSEPH SMITH.—CLAIM POLYGAMY IS DYING OUT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Three witnesses for the defense in the Smoot case today testified that polygamy was dying out in Utah so rapidly that there was no need of prosecutions. It was declared that the younger Mormons are all opposed to polygamy and that if they thought it was taught there would be a revolution in the church.

It was admitted that Senator Smoot got the consent of the church to become a candidate for senator but only in the form of a leave of absence from his church duties and it was declared that he could have been nominated and elected without it.

Attorney Whitecotton, of Provo, continued his review of political affairs in Utah during the morning session.

Cross-Examined Whitecotton.

At the afternoon session Judge Tayler, counsel for the protestants, cross-examined Mr. Whitecotton. The witness, when asked if President Joseph Smith had said that if he observed the custom which prevailed generally on the subject of marriage relations "he would be eternally damned," replied that it would not surprise him, because Smith was a "thorough fanatic."

The witness said the act of Apostle Merrill, who is the husband of several wives, in performing the ceremony uniting his son to a plural wife, met his hearty disapproval and that the "whole outfit ought to be prosecuted." He had no doubt of the marriage of Apostle Cannon to Lillian Hamlin and said the controversy waged was not whether there had been such a marriage but who performed the ceremony.

H. E. Booth, of Salt Lake, a non-Mormon lawyer, who went to Utah from Iowa in 1885 and has been active in the politics of Utah, asserted that the Mormon church as a church did not interfere in political affairs but that individuals took an interest in politics the same way that other citizens did.

Says Polygamy Is Dead.

"I believe polygamy is as dead as slavery. Eighty to ninety per cent of the Mormons themselves are opposed to plural marriages."

Mr. Booth testified that sympathy was with the women who were married in polygamy and that there was a disinclination to prosecute the polygamists for that reason. He said he thought polygamy would die out soon of itself and that it was better to permit this rather than to prosecute husbands and leave their plural wives as outcasts.

He said his observation was that there had been no plural marriages with the sanction of the church except perhaps the case of Abraham Cannon. He asserted there would be an immediate revolution in the church if the president of it should sanction plural marriages.

The witness said that Senator Smoot's candidates for the legislature would have been defeated if it had not been for the Gentiles. There was no question but that Mr. Smoot received church consent to run for senator but he believed Mr. Smoot would have been nominated and elected had that consent been refused. He thought if conditions were allowed to go on as they were now, in a few years nothing would be heard of the Mormon question.

Conditions Are Changing.

On cross-examination Mr. Booth insisted that he had been a consistent opponent of polygamy all through his residence in Utah but said conditions could not be changed any more rapidly than they were changing. Concerning non-prosecutions Mr. Booth admitted on cross-examination that on both sides of his home president Smith maintained houses for his wives but that until the Smoot hearing he had never heard that polygamous cohabitation had been practiced since the manifesto.

Asked by Senator Dubois if his sympathy for children born in polygamy is "great enough to put a stop to bringing them into the world," the witness replied:

"It is, if a stop could be put to it without visiting penalties and hardships on those women who bring them into the world. If you can suggest a way to meet this problem I will adopt it and carry it out."

Chairman Burrow asked Mr. Booth if an amendment to the constitution of the United States prohibiting polygamy would be effective and received the answer that it was not necessary. With, as said he thought it would put an end to polygamy.

On cross-examination of Mr. Taylor both admitted that the prosecutions of Annie Mollinus was regarded by many members of the church as an especial badge of honor.

Women and Children Suffer.

Arthur Pratt, warden of the Utah penitentiary and a son of Orson Pratt, who was an authority on church affairs, testified that he never had been a member of the Mormon church. He declared that from 1875 when he arrested George Reynolds, and down to 1890, he had arrested more Mormons on charges of polygamous cohabitation than any other officer. He said the arrests entailed a great deal of suffering among the Mormon people and that it was the women and children who got the worst of the prosecutions. He said there could be no question as to the decrease of polygamy since 1890, and added that as supervisor of the census he was in a position to have the best information on that subject.

Mr. Pratt testified that he had served six years as chief of police at Salt Lake City and under the territorial government he had been United States marshal and deputy United States marshal.

Angus Cannon, the witness said, had a bad reputation and his word could not be credited.

Mr. Pratt denied that at this time the politics of Utah was divided among party lines, some Mormons having been set apart to be Republican and some to be Democrats. He said in the three years Joseph Smith had been president the church had been kept out of politics, but before that time it had been a factor.

GRAVES PAPER CASE REVIVED

ADVERTISEMENT IN A PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND, PAPER STARTS PEOPLE TO GUESSING. RUMORS OF A FORTUNE.

Special to the Gazette.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 13.—The famous T. Thatcher Graves murder case bobs up again in this advertisement which appeared in a local newspaper today:

"Dr. T. Thatcher. Wanted—The name and address of any of Dr. T. Thatcher Graves' relatives or intimate friends. They can learn something of interest to them. Address, H. U., P. O. Box 236, Longmont, Colo."

There have been of late a number of sensational rumors on the famous case and it has been persistently circulated here and in Danielson, Conn., where Mrs. Graves resides, that a fortune of $60,000 has come to light.

Attorney Ballou, counsel for Graves, said this afternoon that he had absolutely nothing to say about the case. It was known that Detective Parker, who died this week, had been working on some feature of the great murder mystery recently.

TWO ARRESTS FOR THE ROBBERY OF ASSAY OFFICE

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 13.—After holding Thomas Scanlon of Victor, since the day after Christmas, the sheriff's office has at last given out the cause of his arrest.

A few days ago John Chapman of Independence was also arrested and placed in the county jail but nothing could be secured from the sheriff's office as to the charges. At last it has been given out that the two men were arrested for the robbery of Mr. Chas. Daniels' assay office on Christmas eve.

SUIT TO RECOVER MONEY LOST IN GAMBLING HOUSES

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 13.—Suit was brought in the district court today to recover the sum of $1,100 which was alleged to have been lost in different gaming houses in Victor. William McKinnon is the plaintiff who claims that her husband, A. D. McKinnon, lost the money between August 30 and December 24, 1904, to T. J. Foster, O. L. Booth, S. A. Van Derbur, G. Stephenson and C. E. Dingman, she alleging that the defendants are guilty of tort and of using malice, fraud and willful deceit in obtaining the money from her husband.

POSTAL PROGRESS LEAGUE OFFICERS ATTACKS PLATT

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—At a meeting of the Postal Progress league in Cooper union tonight Chairman Post of Battle Creek, Mich., said he had prepared papers and would ask the United States supreme court for a restraining order to prevent Senator Thomas C. Platt from taking his seat. He said he would take this action on the ground that Mr. Platt subverts the interests of the people he has sworn to represent in the interest of a corporation he really represents. The affair relates to the parcels post.

COLD IN NEBRASKA.

OMAHA, Jan. 13.—Last night was the coldest night of the winter, the thermometer going as low as 12 degrees below zero at 6 o'clock this morning. At Norfolk 26 below zero is reported, the coldest weather in that vicinity for many years.

CUBAN DEMANDS

Uncle San Demands Annulment of Haytian Sentence Against American.

PORT AU PRINCE, Hayti, Jan. 13.—Mr. Powell, American minister has informed the government of Hayti that the United States government refuses to recognize the validity of the sentence of 15 years at hard labor pronounced by the Haytian court against Jaeger Haber, an American citizen, for alleged complicity in bond frauds charged against the administration of former President Simon Sam and officers of the bank of Hayti. The United States demands the annulment of the sentence under pain of energetic intervention. The demand has caused much excitement.

CATTLE, HORSE AND SWINE GROWERS SECEDE AND FORM NEW ASSOCIATION

Cattle, Horse and Swine Growers Secede and Form New Organization—Trouble Over the Packers and Railroads.

DENVER, Jan. 13.—The National Live Stock association was rent in twain today by the adoption of a new constitution which admitted the packers to membership and provided an open door through which the railroads of the country might at any time become factors in the control of the organization. The cattlemen, horse and swine growers, together with the affiliated industries refused to agree to a new constitution and withdrew when they considered its adoption probable and this afternoon formed a new organization under the name of the American Stock Growers' association, whose aim it will be to wield a dominating influence in the interest of the cattle grower.

Roughly speaking, the sheep growers, commission men and the stock yards interests remained with the National Live Stock association and the actual growers of all other animals for the market have gone with the new association. The cattlemen have from the first strongly opposed the admission into their organization of the packers and particularly of the railroads. They claimed that these two influences would ultimately dominate the cattle grower's industry of the country to the detriment of the grower and they refused to remain in an organization which included their representatives among the members of its controlling body.

Long and Warm Session.

The defection in the ranks of the association came after a long session in which the arguments were at times torrid, and where the parliamentary tangles were so frequent and so complex that it was impossible to follow them. Many of them were not followed. Motions would be made, placed before the house and never voted upon. At times there would be several motions before the house at one time, and they would all drop together by the wayside when the convention went helter skelter after something else. Vice President Jastro at one time acted as presiding officer and declared out of order a motion to adjourn.

"Ain't motions to adjourn always in order?" demanded the delegate who made it.

"Not just now they ain't," replied the vice president, who was anxious to bring about a vote on the proposed constitution before allowing the convention to adjourn.

Reports On Reorganization.

At the opening of the convention majority and minority reports were submitted by the committees that had been appointed yesterday to consider the plan of reorganization. The former, which came from the cattlemen, was read by S. H. Cowan of Texas, and recommended that only stockmen be admitted to membership and that all visiting stockmen be allowed to vote on the plan of reorganization. It declared against a combination with stock yards, packers or railroads.

The minority report, submitted by E. R. Gosney of Arizona, was in favor of allowing only such delegates to vote as were members of the National Live Stock association in good standing.

After a wrangle that lasted for hours and during which the convention wandered hither and thither, the majority report was adopted.

Preparing to Vote.

President Hagenbarth of the association then declared that up to this time the convention had been of a general character and not a convention of the members of the National Live Stock association who alone could vote on the adoption of the proposed plan of reorganization. The courtesies of the convention to visiting stockmen, he declared, were about to cease and a session of the association proper would be held. An effort was then made to call the delegates of the association to order but no roll of the members was at hand, and when one was brought it was incomplete, and it required something over an hour for the first calling of the roll.

During an interval of the roll call Mr. MacKenzie of Colorado discussed the happenings in the committee room. He declared that President Hagenbarth had told him that $40,000 would be necessary to run the association. He asked where the $40,000 was coming from and Mr. Hagenbarth assured him that the cattlemen would not be asked to put up one cent of the money.

Matter of Control.

Mr. MacKenzie gave it as his opinion that if outside parties were putting up the money they would aim to control the organization and he urged the live stock men to stand together, and get congress and the president to come to their aid when it was necessary.

During Mr. MacKenzie's speech President Hagenbarth ruled him out of order and ruled that his time had expired but other delegates gave him their time and urged him to continue his remarks.

Mr. Cowan discussed the proposed amendment at some length. He declared that no section of it was free from any section of the national act. He proposed to amend. The convention was at this time, he said, investigating the alleged Beef Trust, and what would be the effect on public opinion if the cattlemen formed an alliance with the men who are being investigated by the government.

Pertinent Query.

"President Roosevelt sent a message here," said Mr. Cowan, "saying 'I am with you.' What is he going to think if we go to bed with the very men he is investigating?"

He closed by declaring that if the plan of organization was passed, the cattlemen must withdraw.

Ex-Senator Harris of Kansas spoke strongly in favor of the adoption of the proposed amendment, asserting that the stockmen would have as much power in the organization as anybody and declaring that Mr. Cowan and the cattlemen should rather endeavor to eliminate objectionable features in the amendment than talk of secession. Ex-President John Springer of the association made a passionate appeal for the delegates to do everything in their power to avoid a rupture and moved that the entire matter be referred to the incoming executive committee with instructions to have both the old and new constitutions printed six months in advance of the next convention at which time it could be considered. The motion was lost by a vote of 208 to 272, the sheepmen and stock yard interests constituting the majority.

Membership.

W. E. Hughes of Denver, moved that all the visiting stockmen be allowed to vote. They had been invited, he said, to attend the convention, had taken part in the proceedings up to the present time and now when the vote was to be taken they were told that they could not vote. He was ruled out of order by the president, and Mr. Cowan appealed from the decision of the chair. The appeal after various vicissitudes was lost and not heard of again. The report of the committee on organization was then read. It recommended that the following be entitled to membership: Cattle, sheep, horse and swine breeders; pure breed record associations, stock exchanges, stock yards, stock feeders, packers and "such other branches as may be approved by the central committee."

Basis of Representation.

The basis of representation was recommended to be as follows:

All branches of the industry to be represented by a committee of persons engaged in such branches and such committee to be known as the general committee of the branch it represents.

Each state live stock association to be entitled to a maximum of 50 delegates but in no case shall it have less than ten delegates. Where no general state organization exists the particular interests are entitled to the following representation: Each state association and each association of sheep, horse and swine growers and every association of stock feeders, ten delegates; each pure breed record association a maximum of ten and a minimum of five delegates; each stock yards association a maximum of three and a minimum of one delegate; each stock exchange one delegate for every 25 members with a minimum of three delegates; each packing house interest a maximum of ten delegates with a minimum of two; all official boards of organizations a maximum of five with a minimum of two delegates.

Each general committee representing an industry to select one of its members as a representative in the executive body of the association.

Cattlemen Withdraw.

The question of the adoption of the amendment was then before the house and as soon as the clerk commenced the calling of the roll the cattlemen began to leave the hall in large numbers. Mr. MacKenzie announced that he desired all the cattlemen to meet at 2:30 o'clock. The new constitutional amendment was adopted by a vote of 253 to 60.

At the afternoon session of the Live Stock association a resolution was adopted increasing the time limit for the transportation of live stock from 28 to 36 hours. A resolution was adopted favoring reciprocity treaties with foreign countries which have placed a ban on American live stock as a means of relieving the glutted condition of the American market.

The cattlemen who had left the convention gathered at the Brown Palace hotel in the afternoon and appointed a committee of 15 to present a plan for a new organization. Its report, which was unanimously adopted recommended that a temporary president be appointed to hold office until May 9, when a general convention for the purposes of a permanent organization will be held in Denver. John W. Springer, a former president of the National Live Stock association was elected president until the May convention.

In the new organization the representation is to be one of individual members only and it will not be an amalgamation of associations as is the case with the older organization.

At a meeting of the National Live Stock association held tonight the central committee which is the governing body of the association, was announced as follows:

H. A. Jastro, cattle growers; Jesse Smith, sheep growers; H. W. McAfee, horse growers; A. E. Lovejoy, swine growers; W. A. Harris, pure bread record association; Frank Cooper, live stock exchanges; A. G. Leonard, stock yards; Nelson Morris, packers; C. P. Dailey, goat raisers. The committee re-elected President Frank Hagenbarth and passed a resolution thanking him for his work and expressing confidence in him as an official.

The minor officers will be selected tomorrow morning.

Record-Breaking Temperatures in Central States.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 13.—The coldest weather of the season was experienced here today, the thermometer registering 12 degrees below zero. In western Nebraska it is still colder.

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 13.—Twelve degrees below zero was recorded in Centralia during the night. It was the coldest night of the winter.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The steamer Indus which stuck on Fire Island bar during the fog Wednesday night, was still hard and fast aground today and at half tide this forenoon she had a bad list to starboard. All night long the wreckers, assisted by the steamer's crew, worked steadily, removing the cargo of sugar in an effort to lighten her sufficiently to allow her to float at the next high tide, and today everything movable was being taken off. A moderate sea was running.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 13.—Today was the coldest of the winter in the southwest, the lowest temperature, 13 degrees below zero, being reported at Dodge City, Kans. At Kansas City it was 1 below zero early today, with a further fall of seven or eight degrees predicted for the ensuing twelve hours. The following additional temperatures are reported: Concordia, Kans., 19 below; Wichita, 2 below; Oklahoma City, zero; Amarillo, Texas, 4 below.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 13.—Last night and today brought the coldest weather of the season, six below zero.

Witness in Smoot Case Says Mormons are Hostile to Practice.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—J. W. N. Whitecotton, an attorney of Provo, Utah, resumed his review of political affairs in Utah when the hearing opened today in the Smoot investigation. No effort was made by the church, he said, to restrict the political liberties of the people generally or of any individuals, but it claimed the right to receive the time and energies of men who have been elected as church officers.

The deduction he drew was that the church did not try to prevent its members from engaging in politics without the consent of the church, but that when certain members accepted important church offices, the church had a right to prevent such members from accepting other offices which would take their time.

Mr. Whitecotton said he never had seen any difference in business between Mormon and Gentile but he thought the Mormon voters adhered more closely than the Gentiles to their party affiliations.

It was shown by the witness that Gentiles had always held the most important state offices and that Gentile judges who had been active in sentencing Mormons for polygamous cohabitation received as large a vote as other candidates when they came up for re-election. "I think the decided sentiment of the Mormon people in Utah is hostile to polygamy," said Mr. Whitecotton.

"As to the sentiment in the state in regard to the prosecutions for polygamy," Mr. Whitecotton said there had been a great deal said of an understanding that there should be no prosecutions but he had never heard of such a thing and did not believe it existed. Continuing, he said:

"But I believe the people generally do not want to stir this thing up and start it smelling again. It has not a good odor. Women went into polygamy—a delusion probably—because they thought plural marriage a religious duty. The church prescribes that if a plural wife gets a divorce she cannot be married to another husband and the people realize that if she is cut off by prosecutions from her only protector she and her children are in a precarious condition."

Wilson, of Pueblo, Charged With Forging Registration---Alleges His Innocence---Expects Vindication.

Special to the Gazette.

PUEBLO, Jan. 14.—Chief of Detectives D. H. Wilson was arrested last evening charged with forging a registration sheet last October, and was released on bonds of $2,000.

The information was sworn to by John Cameron, foreman of the grand jury. The information charges the detective with forging a registration sheet last October.

"Fanny Keeler" is the woman who is supposed to have registered. Her age is given as 21 years, residence 215½ North Main street. Tom Brown and Blanche Woods are signed to the document as vouchers.

There is appended to the information the name of J. S. Sheppard, a handwriting expert who was called to testify to the handwriting on the registration sheet.

B. Shaw, one of the witnesses for the state, on the recommendation of the district attorney, is being held in the county jail, as she is unable to furnish bonds in the sum of $500 for her appearance at the trial.

Wilson claims that he is innocent and that he is not worrying over the charges.

Russia Claims Chinese are Violating Neutrality Laws.

PARIS, Jan. 13.—The Associated Press learns authoritatively that Russia's note addressed to the powers relative to China's breaking neutrality gives what Russia claims to be absolute proof of Chinese breaches. The three main complaints are:

First—That the islands of Miautao in the Straits of Pechili opposite Port Arthur have been constantly used by the Japanese without Chinese interference as a strategical base and as a harbor for Japanese torpedo boats.

Second—That the Chinese army on the border has accepted the command of Japanese officers.

Third—That Chinese firms have been constantly working in behalf of the Japanese supplying them with provisions, military accoutrements and general war stores.

The note lengthily sets forth the details and complaints that China has not given satisfactory explanation of the breaches of neutrality and that therefore, Russia advises the powers that she intends to use complete liberty of action in regard to future abuse of neutrality.

STOCKMEN DISCUSS RE-ORGANIZATION

DENVER, Jan. 13.—At the opening of the convention of the National Live Stock association this morning, Murdo Mackenzie, of Trinidad, asked for the floor on a question of personal privilege. He declared that he had been frequently mentioned as a successor to President Hagenbarth but his business interests were such that he could not accept the position.

Secretary Johnson of the association made an extended statement of the origination of the reorganization plan, saying that part of it would do justice to President Hagenbarth.

"As a question of personal privilege," said the president, "I don't wish any justice done me."

There were calls "go on" from the delegates and Mr. Johnson proceeded to read a number of letters from stockmen supporting the plan of re-organization as proposed by President Hagenbarth.

Majority and minority reports on the plan of reorganization from the committees appointed yesterday were then read. The former report from the committee read by S. H. Cowan, recommended that only livestock men proper be admitted to membership and that all visiting stockmen be allowed to vote on the plan of re-organization. It declared against a combination with stock yards, packers or railroads.

The minority report for the wool growers was read by E. R. Gosney of Arizona. It was in favor of allowing only such delegates as were members of the livestock association to vote on the question of reorganization.

"Resolved, that we, the members of the eighth Idaho legislature now in session, regardless of political belief or religious creed, denounce the statements as reported in the press of ex-Governor W. COMMISSION MERCHANTS APPROVE ROOSEVELT'S POSITION ON FREIGHT RATES.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 13.—At its session today the National League of Commission Merchants ordered that the following dispatch be sent to President Roosevelt:

"We, the National League of Commission Merchants of the United States in convention assembled, most heartily approve of the recommendation to congress relating to the regulation of railway and transportation matters as embodied in your message and pledge ourselves to earnestly support you in your effort to secure needed legislation along these lines."

A special commission was appointed to go to Washington and appear before the proper committees of the house and senate in an effort to get better transportation facilities and cheaper rates than are now being charged by private car lines, and particularly the Armour lines.

Member of Diocese Says Rector Has Cost Good Deal of Money.

READING, Pa., Jan. 13.—Something of a sensation has been created by the publication of the letter from Rev. Dr. Ingram N. W. Irvine to the board of inquiry named by Bishop Tuttle to consider the persentment filed against Bishop Talbot of the diocese of Central. Mauch Chaunk one of the members of the board saw the letter until they read it in the newspapers.

None of the men who are charged by Dr. Irvine with being prejudiced against him would discuss his letter for publication. Their friends however, declare the attack upon them to be entirely unjustifiable. Mr. William Butler of Mauch Chounk one of the members of the board said:

Dr. Irvine's proposition to waive the canonical requirement and have a public meeting of the board of inquiry is absurd. Neither he, the board, nor Bishop Tuttle himself would have authority to do this. The canon requires that the board must meet in executive session and the only thing for the board to do is to abey the canon. Personally I can only repeat what I said last Tuesday namely, that I am opposed to anything that savors of a 'star chamber' proceeding and if I had my way even the meetings of the house of bishops would be public.

Captain P. R. Stetson, treasurer of the diocese of central Pennsylvania said today:

When I said that Dr. Irvine has cost the the diocese too much money I meant just what I said. I have never met the gentleman personally and know nothing of him except what I have read and heard. But in the trials in which he has already participated the diocese of central Pennsylvania has had to foot the bills. That is my grievance against him and I wish the whole matter was ended.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 13.—Judge Holmes, of the district court, announced today that on January 30 he would appoint a receiver for the Lincoln Traction company which owns all the street car lines in this city, on the application by the city on the ground that the company owes $56,000 for taxes.

MADE A RAID

SENSATIONAL RISE ON CURB MARKET IN WALL STREET OF NORTHERN SECURITIES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The feature of today in Wall street was a sensational rise in Northern Securities to 144⅞ on the curb market and establishing a new high record and representing a gain over yesterday of five points.

Inquiries on the curb revealed the fact that there is scarcely any long stock for sale, but that many of the transactions represented speculative commitments between traders, some of whom wanted to cover shorts and some wanted to buy.

RAID ON RAILWAY

TOKIO, Jan. 13—2 p. m.—Russian cavalry raiders have slightly damaged the railroad between Anshantien Hai Chang and Taschihchiao.

(The above dispatch evidently refers to a previous cablegram to the Associated Press from General Oku's headquarters in the field, which announced that a raid had been made on the railroad near Hai Chang by Russian cavalry, who were repulsed it was said, by Japanese guards, and driven back.)

Suit Against Pueblo Officials to Recover Excess Fees.

Special to the Gazette.

PUEBLO, Jan. 13.—Suit to recover $5,000 surplus fees, alleged to have been illegally retained by former Judge J. W. Coulter and the Fidelity & Deposit company of Maryland, will be filed today.

The complaint alleges that Judge Coulter, in the three years of his term, failed to turn over to the county treasurer surplus fees amounting to $6,000.

The complaint specifies that the office of county judge in the first year of defendant's term earned $1,700 over and above the salary of the judge and clerk and incidental expenses and that this sum was never turned over to the treasurer.

In the second cause of action it is claimed that during the second term the earnings of the office were $2,200 and that Judge Coulter again failed to hand over the money. The third cause of the complaint charges that the defalcation during the third year was $2,700 and all three counts are joined in the fourth charge, which is to the effect that Judge Coulter is responsible for a shortage of $6,600.

An audit of the county books made by Accountant Mulnix showed that there was an apparent shortage of $5,000 and as a result the charges were filed against Judge Coulter.

Judge Coulter claims that the examination must be an error. The action is civil since the state laws prevent criminal action after three years have passed, and it is exactly three years since Judge Coulter retired from office.

COSSACKS WERE WELL SUPPORTED

TOKIO, Jan. 13—Evening.—In military circles here it is not anticipated that there will be any further difficulty with Lieutenant General Mistchenko's Cossack raiders. It is believed that the raiding troops were probably limited to those which attacked New Chwang and Niuchiatun.

There is no evidence to indicate that the Cossacks were strongly supported. Steps were taken to block their retreat, but they evidently found it necessary to retire as swiftly as they came, in order to avoid being captured.

It is believed here that the Cossacks planned a dash on the railroad for the purpose of intercepting General Nogi's big guns which are on the way to the Shakhe river and also to upset Field Marshal Oyama's transport communication.

DENVER, Jan. 13.—At the opening of the convention of the National Live Stock association this morning, Murdo Mackenzie, of Trinidad asked for the floor on a question of personal privilege. He declared that he had been frequently mentioned as a successor to President Hagenbarth but his business interests were such that he could not accept the position.

ARE SEVERE ON GAMBLERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—In the senate today, in connection with the bill granting a pension to the families of the members of the Indian police who were killed in 1890 in the capture of Sitting Bull, Mr. Tillman made the claim that the Indian police are on the same footing as the Philippine constabulary.

He said that he had made an effort to get a pension for the family of a South Carolinian, who was a member of the Philippine force, and who was killed while on duty there.

He contended that there had been discrimination because his constituents were from the south, but Mr. McCumber in charge of the bill, said such was not the case.

"The senator sees it that way, he does not want to see it any other way," said Mr. Tillman.

Mr. McCumber protested that he was willing to be guided by the facts, in which Mr. Tillman responded that he disputed the senator's interpretation of the facts."

After debate the bill was passed over. Consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was then resumed.

The chair sustained Mr. Berry's point of order against the amendment increasing the salaries of the civil service commissioners, and the bill was passed.

Mr. Beveridge sought to have a day fixed for a vote on the statehood bill, but Mr. Gorman replied that owing to the absence of many senators it would be impossible to assent to that request. Mr. Gorman added that there is no disposition to unduly delay action on the disposition of the statehood bill.

Mr. Beveridge did not press his point. The statehood bill was temporarily laid aside and the senate entered on the consideration of the senate calendar.

Among the first witnesses summoned to appear were Chairman Niedringhaus, Adolphus Busch, Otto F. Stifel, Secretary C. D. Morris of the speakers' bureau during the campaign, Secretary Joe. McCoy, in charge of the organization and Chairman J. D. Howe, of the Republican city committee.

TRY TO BREAK THE RAILWAY LINE

TOKIO, Jan. 13.—The bodies of Russian cavalry raiders actively operating southwest of Liao Yang are evidently desirous of harassing Japanese railroad communication and interrupting the transportation of General Nogi's army to reinforce Field Marshal Oyama at Liao Yang.

The Japanese army headquarters reporting Thursday says:

Wednesday at 10 in the morning a Japanese cavalry detachment encountered four companies of Russian cavalry west of Tangmasan southwest of Liao Yang and fiercely engaged them. At 2:30 in the afternoon the Russians were repulsed with heavy losses. Subsequently they were reinforced by several companies of cavalry and eight guns. The Japanese drew the Russians to Liuerhpao and engaged and pursued them. On Wednesday night a small body of Russian cavalry reached the railroad line and tore up the tracks between Anshantien and Haicheng and Tatchekiao and Yinkow. They were immediately repaired and the line was reopened to traffic.

On Wednesday afternoon two thousand Russian cavalry with guns attacked New Chwang. The Japanese were forced to retire temporarily, but were reinforced, attacked the Russians and are still pursuing them. The Russians also attacked Niuchiatun but were repulsed.

Silver Lake's Importance

As evidence that the [illegible] Lake mine is an important factor when operating at his best the close down on account of the recent fire has not only affected a great number of men in mine and mill but has necessitated a lay-off of some sixty odd employes at the Durango smelter

Drifting is progressing steadily on the Missouri Fred and Tennessee Joe claims on Boulder mountain and the vein which is from eight to ten feet wide, is steadily advancing in values The point where the vein was intersected was 12 feet from the end of the ore shoot on the surface and the small force of men is pegging away with great hopes of reaching the ore shoot before the end of this month

Highland Mary Ore

Johnson et al contractors on the Highland Mary mine, report that they are now running on a four and one-half foot vein of unusually good ore having encountered the shoot last Wednesday [illegible] week This new strike was [illegible] and the boys are elated over the find that promises to hold good and which will give the Gold Tunnel & Railway company a new extra encouragement

A preliminary survey has been made for a tram line from the Mogul mine to Capitol at the mouth of Fox gulch below Gladstone a distance of one and a half miles As a preliminary there is evidence that the Mogul Mining company operating at the head of Cement creek is gradually preparing for a great future as the development progresses on their mines For some time past the Mogul people have quietly [illegible] territory near Gladstone in contemplation of building a mill at a future period.

Work on the Old Hundred tram line is being pushed as rapidly as possible and although its completion has been delayed somewhat it is now expected the line will be completed by not later than the first of February

Con Eureka Strike

The strike made two weeks ago by the Consolidated Fire & Mining & Tunnel company was given an examination this week by J B Ezell of Pine Bluff, Ark, and Charles W Gregg, of Denver, Colorado, whose investments in the concern date from the inception of the enterprise and are very well pleased with the outlook of the company's future The vein known as the Eagle measures fully 11 feet from [illegible] to wall and the assays made average better than $[illegible] a ton throughout as the ore is not heavily mineralized the product will run about four or five into one How soon the mill proposition says Mr Gregg "is one for future calculation and the company will first determine the [illegible] 1,000 to 2,000 feet by a 1,000-foot tunnel before the building of a mill."

FOREST PROTECTION.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT was perfectly right when he said in his message that "the forest policy of the Government is just now a subject of vivid public interest throughout the West and to the people of the United States in general." But it is a question whether even in the West where the value of the forests and the importance of protecting them is most fully appreciated, the people have a complete understanding of the problems discussed at the meeting of the American Forestry Congress in Washington last week. There seems to be an idea prevalent that the forests of the Rocky Mountains and Pacific slope are so vast as to be inexhaustible, and that the talk of protecting them against fires and the ruthless onslaughts of lumbermen is inspired only by sentimentalism.

But this is very far from the truth. There are now fifty-nine forest reserves embracing a total of 62,763,494 acres. In all timber tracts not protected by the Government the felling of trees is proceeding at a rate which, if not interrupted, will bring about a lumber famine before many years. In fact it is estimated that at the present rate of denudation the immense forest reserves of the Pacific slope will be exhausted within a half century. This is why it is absolutely necessary that something be done to stop the wanton destruction.

As President Roosevelt pointed out in his message the forest reserves are created for two principal purposes: first, the preservation of the water supply, and second, the preservation of the timber supply. The reasons why forests are essential to the protection of the sources of water supply are too well known to need repetition here. The present stock of standing timber must be guarded because when once gone its restoration by natural growth will be a matter of centuries. Within the last ten years the price of lumber has advanced from 25 to 50 per cent, according to the nature of the wood and the grade of material. This increase adds to the cost of every house of furniture, of railway construction, of boxes and barrels used for shipping—of everything made either wholly or in part of wood. The price will never be lowered for it is due to a scarcity of timber which will grow greater rather than less. This is where the forestry question affects the public in a material way, and it is important enough to demand the most serious consideration.

AGAIN THE WHIPPING-POST.

THE country continues to talk about President Roosevelt's recommendation of the whipping-post for wife-beaters. A Washington grand jury recently reported in favor of its establishment, expressing the opinion that it "would prove very effective in decreasing the number of these reprehensible crimes." It will be remembered that the President's recommendation had to do only with the District of Columbia, and it is said that public sentiment there favors the innovation.

The only argument against the whipping-post seems to be that it is either brutal in its punishment of the offender or that it exercises a brutalizing effect on the official who administers the whipping. As for the first objection it may be said that the culprit need not be whipped so severely that it amounts to brutality. It is not the aim of the law to punish brutality with brutality. To flog a wife-beater in a degree commensurate with the enormity of his offense would require a vigorous application of the lash, but it would no more be necessary to torture him than it would be for a schoolmaster to torture a rebellious youngster.

The brutalizing effect of the whipping-post on the official who administers the punishment need not cause great worry. He will probably be able to stand it pretty well, but if, perchance his finer sensibilities are sometimes galled it must be remembered that he is only one of a great many and of very little consequence compared with the many unfortunate women whose bestial husbands he punishes. The brutalizing influence of the whipping-post is likely to be very slight compared with its influence in stamping out brutality, and the sooner it is adopted the more salutary will be the effect.

STOESSEL, THE SCAPEGOAT.

THE announcement from St. Petersburg that immediately after his arrival in the Russian capital General Stoessel will have to stand trial by court martial for surrendering Port Arthur is not likely to increase the world's sympathy for the Czar in the hour of his misfortune. Of course the court martial will be a perfunctory affair—it is inconceivable that a civilized government could actually punish so brave an officer for doing what under the circumstances he was forced to do—but it is not the fact that his action is to be officially investigated that arouses indignation so much as it is the indecent haste of the government to place him on the rack and the manner in which the order was made.

The world is probably perfectly correct in its conclusion that if the war has produced a real hero thus far that man is General Stoessel, and the Russian government would give him nothing more than his due if it heaped honors upon him instead of censure. His defense of Port Arthur will forever remain one of the brightest pages in the history of his country, and the fact that he lost rather than won is by no means a disgrace to him. Probably no commander in the world with an equal garrison of any nationality could have withstood the terrific onslaughts of the Japanese army longer than did Stoessel and his men.

A St. Petersburg paper commenting on the court martial order asked that the investigation be extended to include the war office. The suggestion is a good one. While the easy-chair warriors of St. Petersburg are trying to find out why a handful of sick and exhausted men did not continue to fight after the limit of human endurance had been passed, it would be well for them also to find out why Viceroy Alexieff was permitted to plunge the nation into a war unprepared. They might investigate the furnishing to the soldiers of flour mixed with dirt and shoes with paper soles, of clothing made of shoddy that fell to pieces after a week's wear, and ammunition the wrong size for their guns. They might, without violating the rules even of Russian propriety, inquire who got the graft on these contracts. It would also be well to ask why 11-inch shells were furnished for the 10-inch guns in the fortifications at Vladivostok, making it impossible for the commander there to return the fire of the Japanese fleet at its first bombardment.

The list of questions for the inquisitors to ask is interminable. Why were Russian soldiers shipped on a five thousand-mile journey across Siberia in the dead of winter in freight cars, most of them without heating apparatus and often without sufficient provisions? And why was it that when the ante-bellum negotiations with Japan had reached such a point that war was plainly unavoidable there were not enough soldiers in Manchuria to hold it against the first invading force?

The blame for the Port Arthur surrender, like the blame for every other Russian disaster, is not on the men who did the fighting, but on the bureaucrats in St. Petersburg who run the Czar and the army and navy and the entire government to suit themselves. They are the men responsible for the war and all its train of evils, and when a court martial is held to adjust matters they should not be forgotten.

"Watchman, what of the night?" asks Mr. Bryan's Commoner. The watchman is busy just now, so we will inform the gentleman that tonight the sun sets at 5:01 o'clock and will not rise again until 7:18 tomorrow morning. Hence the prospect that it will be dark for a long time, and present indications are that it will be pretty cold. These prognostications apply to Colorado Springs. If Mr. Bryan wants to know how it will be in Lincoln he will have to consult the almanac for himself.

An Eastern paper thinks that Missouri needs a "quickened public conscience more than new laws against boodling." Yes, but the conscience will never be quick enough to catch up with the boodlers.

There is not a Democrat in either branch of the Michigan legislature. How lonesome it would be there for Frewen, DeLong and the other renegade Republicans of the Colorado legislature!

Now that he is safely started on his way home Admiral Rojestvensky is wholly unconcerned over the news that Japan has a submarine torpedo boat fleet ready for service.

Colorado Springs has had the usual amount of sunshine this week, but so far no cases of heat prostration have been reported.

A KANSAS OPINION OF THE ARKANSAS RIVER GRAFT.

It is stated that another appropriation of $15,000 will be asked of the legislature to pay lawyers for continuing the Arkansas river graft suit. This suit is one of the most joyous affairs for the lawyers Kansas has ever concocted and there is no telling when it will end. It is pretty certain where it will end. The states of Colorado and Kansas will jaw over the matter a few years, a few thousand pages of testimony will be taken and it will drop out of sight.

The Arkansas river rises in Colorado and Colorado people use it generously in watering the broad valley from La Junta eastward. It is mighty unlikely that the courts will say to Colorado, You must not use this water, but must let it run over into Kansas so it can be used there. It is not even sustained that the river's flow in Kansas is less today than it was 20 years ago, the theory being that in the porous, sandy soil of the valley the water used for irrigation seeps through to feed the river again below the ditches, thus serving a double purpose.

Of course the lawyers want the suit continued. If they can keep it up 20 years they will get $100,000 or more out of it. If the state of Kansas would use the money it is spending on this matter and put it into intelligent experiment for determining just what the western Kansas Arkansas valley can raise profitably under present conditions it would show much more intelligence.—Abilene (Kas.) Reflector.

THE IMMIGRATION PROBLEM.

Commissioner General Sargent of the bureau makes two leading recommendations, one of which is very practical, and the other, as it strikes us, wholly impracticable. He urges that medical examiners be sent to ports of departure to protect us against insane and diseased immigrants, and that some provision be made for a more general distribution of immigrants upon their arrival here. But he leaves the manner in which that is to be done for some one else to suggest. When once we admit these people to the privileges of this country, we cannot well prevent them from going or staying where they will, or doing what they will, so long as they do not break the laws, or in other ways become public charges. It would be better if they could be more scattered, but to formulate a systematic plan of scattering would be a very delicate enterprise.—Boston Transcript.

A CHARTER SUGGESTION.

There is nothing alarming in the circumstance that the net debt incurring capacity of the city of New York is now "only" $54,000,000. That amount is sufficient for the financing all of the necessary improvement now contemplated.

It is just enough to allow the city to engage in useless enterprises or to indulge in costly and fanciful and socialistic experiments.

As a fat treasury breeds rascality, so a wide debt incurring margin provokes ill advised so-called "improvements" that do not improve. If the fact that the city cannot afford to throw away its money results in close and intelligent scrutiny of every project for expenditure presented to the authorities, the narrow debt limit, instead of working injury, will be a positive benefit to the taxpayers and to every resident of New York.—New York Sun.

NEW AND NOVEL INVENTIONS

SELF-LIGHTING CIGAR.

A man with a cigar and minus a match is often no better off than a man without a smoke, for intimes like this the cigar and the means of lighting it may always go together, a self-lighting cigar has been invented. This article, as far as the cigar is concerned is no different from others except that on the business end of the tobacco roll, there is a cab of paper covered with paraffin and through this and into the end of the weed there is thrust a match with the head exposed, when it is desired to burn the tobacco, the match is rubbed against some rough surface in the usual manner, and instantly the treated paper is ablaze, and ample opportunity is given to light the cigar.

LIGHT WITH EVERY CIGAR.

THE BEGGER TRUST.

Several years ago a one-legged youth named Kempton, who had left a comfortable home to engage deliberately in begging, conceived the idea of organizing a community of interest among pan-handlers in the Park Row district. He picked out strategic spots throughout the city and selected a man to beg in each. These men were always particularly well adapted to their posts, a blink (blind man) here, a crust thrower there, a maimed youth somewhere else. In order that the beggers might not be molested by the police, a lookout was appointed for each, and in order that the syndicate's interests might be conserved, Kempton employed roundsmen to observe how faithfully the beggars attended to business, and to collect hourly the earnings of each. In case of arrest, each member of the band was assured of legal representation, to be paid for out of the earnings of the pool.

The scheme thrived for many months, and at one time there were 30 men in the combination, which became a close corporation of profit and power. There is no knowing to what extent it might have expanded, nor how influential it might have become at last, had not the nature of the organization given it undue prominence, and caused it to fall directly under the ban of the mendicant squad. One by one the members were captured and sent to the island, and in the end the gang was broken up.—Everybody's Magazine.

GUINEA PIGS FOR COUNTESS.

America's newest woman of title, the Countess of Suffolk, dotes on guinea pigs, and in her Chicago home she maintaineg a large hutch swarming with the comical rodents. She used to take them into the drawing room when she was a school girl and her sister, now the "American Vicereine," was under the maternal wing. Lady Curzon, who was to be, detested the animals, and expressed her horror forcefully by drowning tenants of the hutch one afternoon when Daisy was away. But the youngest Miss Leiter reaped poetic justice when she gave to a friend who was starting for Europe a pretty Persian cat, long the apple of her elder sister's eye. Chicagoans are wondering if the belted earl will permit his bride to set up a guinea pig hutch in their English home. It is the opinion of the traveled that if the countess must bear with the average society lions she will meet in London no four-footed animal should be obnoxious to her husband.

THE CRIMINAL SQUIRREL.

I wish to take away for all time the character of the squirrel. He is a thief and a murderer. Admired by ignorant city people and by journalists, he devotes his life to eating the eggs and killing the young of harmless and useful birds, which, if permitted to live and increase, would protect the forests from harmful insects. By killing these birds the squirrel takes rank as a forest destroyer. Moreover, the red squirrel is not the only sinner. In my opinion the gray is almost, if not quite, as bad.

I have killed many squirrels caught in the act of eating eggs of young birds. Any bird that selects a nesting place which is also occupied by the squirrels is almost certain to be ejected. When a forest has been destroyed by fires, lumbermen or insects, it is almost impossible for natural reforesting to take place if squirrels are abundant in an adjoining tract, because they eat the seeds. Fifty seeds per head each day would be a low estimate. Yet even this would make 18,250 a year. And seeds are not the only thing. In winter the ground is often strewn with twigs that have been stripped of buds by squirrels. The trees attacked are generally situated at the border of a dense forest, and would, if left alone, yield the greatest seed crop. A single squirrel thus destroys in one day thousands of seeds in the germ. In Montana I have seen the grays rob birds' nests.—Country Life in America.

Cured After Physicians Said He Had Consumption.

E. H. Jones, Pastor M. E. Church, Grove, Md., writes: "About seven or eight years ago I had a very severe cold which physicians said was very near pneumonia, and which they afterwards pronounced consumption. Through a friend I was induced to try a sample of Foley's Honey and Tar, which gave me so much relief that I bought some of the regular size. Two or three bottles cured me of what the physicians called consumption, and I have never had any trouble with my throat or lungs since that time."

I was a victim of sleeplessness and extreme nervousness for eighteen months, unable to get a proper night's rest and feeling tired and worn out continually. I was easily irritated and hysterical at the slightest provocation, but Wine of Cardui gave me great relief. Within a week after I began using it I had my first real good night's rest that I had had for months. My appetite was soon restored, my general system toned up and nervousness became a thing of the past.

I am pleased to testify to the great curative merit of your health giving medicine and gladly endorse it.

Within a week after she began taking Wine of Cardui, Mrs. Best had her first good night's rest for eighteen months. Her restlessness was caused by nervousness and Wine of Cardui, as the best menstrual regulator, has no superior in the world as a medicine to soothe a woman's nerves. Nervousness and hysteria are warnings of the approach of insanity and if relief is not secured the end can only be the asylum or the grave. With such an outlook as this before her, no suffering woman can reasonably refuse to give Wine of Cardui a trial. It brings a cure that thousands of women have sought for in vain. Will you secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui today and start treatment?

BELL WAS A GREAT SUCCESS — CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ELECTION

BEAUTY AND WEALTH OF ENTIRE STATE REPRESENTED AT THE EL PASO CLUB BALL LAST EVENING.

The annual ball of the El Paso club passed off most delightfully last night. The handsome club house was beautifully decorated with tall palms, bays, dracenas and other tropical plants.

In the center of the large reading room, which had been converted into an ideal ball room, was an enormous ball suspended from the ceiling and composed of scarlet cape flowers. It was illuminated with tiny electric globes and was unique and beautiful. The mantel was banked with ferns and cut flowers in shades to compare with the general color scheme, and festoons of smilax and asparagus plumosa formed an alcove before the large bay window where Irving's orchestra was ensconced.

The billiard and bowling rooms were converted into rest rooms and the dining rooms where an elegant several course supper was served, were adorned with a variety of carnations.

Artistic poster programs designed by Thomas MacLaren indicated the dance numbers. As usual, the music was of the finest and throughout the long program the floor was crowded with dancers.

Many guests were in attendance from out of town and the gowns worn by the ladies were very beautiful.

Several dinner parties were given previous to the ball. William A. Otis, Mrs. Horace G. Lunt and Edward F. Little entertained guests at the Antlers.

Mr. and Mrs. John Speed Tucker entertained a company at dinner at their home on North Weber street. Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Aldrich were also host and hostess at a delightful dinner and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Lowell had a few guests who afterward went with them to the ball.

WHAT TRAINING THE CURE FOR JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Denver, Delivered a Stimulating and Thoughtful Address Last Night Before the Schoolmasters' Club.

Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Denver, is in favor of manual training in the public schools as a preventive of juvenile delinquency, and in an interesting address at the High school last night he told the Pike's Peak Schoolmasters' club and a large Colorado Springs audience why he is in favor of manual training.

Judge Lindsey spoke for an hour and in that time he gave every person in his audience a better insight into boy nature and the workings of the juvenile court and a better idea of the relation of the juvenile court to education, and a better knowledge of the practical value of manual training as a potent factor for good citizenship.

The Denver jurist is recognized throughout the United States as one of the highest authorities on matters pertaining to juvenile delinquency and the Colorado law of which he is the father, is considered among the very best in the country.

The High school senior class quartet, consisting of Carl C. Blackman, Roy Kirkpatrick, Ralph Smith and Frank Smith, opened the evening with some excellent selections. President George S. Elstun of the school board, presided and introduced Judge Lindsey with a few appropriate remarks.

Value of the Trades.

"Every reform school and industrial school that I have ever known," began the speaker, "has found that the system of education that tends to bring about reform is trades work. And I was profoundly impressed with the fact that that kind of education would not be in vogue unless it were peculiarly strong in bringing about reform.

"The juvenile court of Denver is an educational factor, and were I asked what kind of a man would make the best juvenile judge, I would reply a good teacher who understands childhood. Formerly there were no educational features in the juvenile court. It is not the home, not the school, not the church, it's the state that is called upon to correct the wayward boy, and the state is finding out that it must perform its duty as a wise parent.

"The right arm of the juvenile court are the schools and the doctors. The teacher working with the court has done all that he can do. Before sending a boy to the reform school, we call in the services of a doctor and discover his every defect, mental, moral and physical."

Cost of Criminal.

"Under the old system of things, it would take three minutes to sentence a boy to the reform school. That three minutes would cost the state of Colorado $1,000. It cost $1,000 to make a criminal and $2,000 to make him a worse one. The state found out that this way was not only the most expensive in dollars and cents but in the manhood and citizenship of Colorado. And all the states are finding this to be true.

"Our mission is to lift up and not to throw down; to raise up and not degrade; to help, not to punish; and when the boy finds this out, he is satisfied that we mean to be just. It is not only the question of the child but the whole problem of crime. The county of Arapahoe spent in one year alone $1,026,000 in the detection and conviction of criminals.

"There is one school district in Denver, that in which is located the Twenty-fourth street school, which supplies one-half the boys sent to the reform school from the schools of Denver. Here is presented a profound study in environment. It means that as boys, they are no worse in this district than on Capitol hill, but example is everything in a boy's life, and here they have the saloon and kindred vices as daily examples.

Faulty System.

"The most potent fact that we have to deal with in this question is the faulty system of education under which we are living. I do not mean to condemn the public schools. We can't give the school too much credit. But we must find a method to improve them. I say that between the sixth and eighth grades the boys should be taught some trade, to be carpenters, plumbers, or printers. It is a wrong assumption to think that the introduction of these will result in a loss of discipline.

"In the worst of boys, the image of God is there if it can only be brought out."

Judge Lindsey then spoke of numerous eastern schools, many of them private institutions, where the manual training idea had been developed, and where the boy of the slums had been turned from a life of crime to a life of usefulness and good citizenship.

"When I entered those school rooms, every boy was so intensely interested in his work that not one looked up to see who the intruder was. When I enter a public school room, nearly every child looks up to see who it is. This manual training work appeals to them. They are interested, and therein lies its hold on them and its power.

"They have got to work, and instead of turning them out to become messenger boys, you make them skilled labor, able to earn good wages the minute they leave the school. The president of the C. F. & I. company recently told me that there were 'stacks' of work but that his company could not get the skilled labor to handle it."

CONFERRED AS TO ALDERMEN

ALDERMEN DISCUSSED JACKSON FRANCHISE REQUIREMENTS WITH ELECTRIC COMPANY'S MANAGER.

Members of the city council met in the private office of Alderman L. C. Perkins last Wednesday evening for the purpose of discussing the rights of the city under the Jackson franchise. George B. Tripp, manager of the Colorado Springs Electric company, was present at the meeting and went over the situation with the aldermen.

Under the franchise the city is entitled to receive 200 incandescent lights for the lighting of the city hall and city buildings, five arc lights and power for municipal purposes, not exceeding 50 horse power, absolutely free of charge. During the discussion it was urged that 200 lights would not supply the city hall, and the outcome of the conference was that the electric company will prepare and submit to the council at its meeting next Monday evening a proposition for the lighting of all city buildings, including fire stations, and a proposition for street lighting. Under the Jackson franchise the city is entitled to street arc lights for $5.50 per light per month, the lights to burn from sunset to sunrise every night in the year. It is understood that the aldermen will insist upon the city receiving its full rights under the franchise.

FELL 60 FEET TO HIS DEATH

JOHN TEMPLE, WELL KNOWN MINING MAN OF THIS CITY, FELL DOWN SHAFT IN CRIPPLE CREEK.

Word was received here yesterday of a fatal accident at Cripple Creek which resulted in the death of John Temple, a well known mining contractor of this city. Mr. Temple was at work in the 100-foot level on the Babbitt lease yesterday and in attempting to come to the surface at noon the ladder tipped and threw him down a distance of sixty feet. He received a compound fracture of the skull and died instantly. The body was removed to the coroner's morgue, where an inquest will be held today.

Mr. Temple came to this city in 1890, and resided with his wife and family at 14 North Walnut street. He was a careful and experienced miner, and had done considerable contracting for mining companies of this city. He was 53 years of age and leaves a wife and three sons and a daughter, the eldest son being married. John W. and Ted Temple went to Cripple Creek last evening to take charge of the body, which will be brought to this city for interment.

BEAT WIFE SO HE MUST BE SENTENCED

JUSTICE RUBY WAS TOO SHOCKED AT ALLEGED BRUTALITY OF HUSBAND TO IMPOSE SENTENCE.

When the case of the People vs. B. Dilley, charged with non-support, was called in the court of Justice Ruby yesterday afternoon, there was little expectation that it would prove as bad as it did. The testimony brought out such a shocking condition of brutality on the part of Dilley toward his wife, Cora, that even the justice, accustomed as he is to seeing the other side of life, was shocked and refused to impose sentence, but remanded the defendant to the custody of the sheriff pending sentence.

The complaint was made by Mrs. Cora Dilley, who was present during the trial with her two children, but so weakened was her condition by neglect that she could not stand the excitement of the trial and she fainted, rendering the attendance of a physician necessary.

The testimony showed that Dilley had been working steadily and receiving $2 per day but that during the last six months he has sent his wife but $6 per month to support herself and children. The neighbors testified that the wife had been given aid by the county and the neighbors, and the testimony further showed that Dilley had repeatedly beaten his wife when she was ill and unable to move around the house.

CITY COUNCIL

Important Matters to be Considered by Aldermen at Their Meeting Monday Night.

The session of the city council next Monday evening will be of more than usual interest on account of the various important matters that will come up for consideration. Aside from the consideration of a proposition from the electric company for the lighting of the city buildings and streets, the council will consider matters in connection with the appropriation ordinance, the Sherman street subway, the opening of Fontanero street through block D, Edwards addition, and across the Santa Fe right of way; the regular reports of officers and the semi-monthly pay rolls. In addition to these matters the purchase of the Findley water right will be informally discussed and the matter of the proposed resignation of the city attorney on account of his appointment as assistant district attorney.

WHAT MUST BE RETURNED

EAGLE SAMPLER FILES IMPORTANT PETITION WITH REFEREE—OF VITAL INTEREST TO TELLURIDE CREDITORS.

In a petition which has been filed by the Eagle Ore Sampling company with Referee G. M. Irwin, the petitioner asks for the return of ore and bullion valued at $52,259 which is now at the Telluride mill, and which the sampling company claims as its property, asserting that it is not and never has been the property of the General Metals company. The petition recites that a contract was made on October 2, 1903, for the treatment of ore belonging to the sampling company by the Telluride Reduction company, and that later in the month the General Metals company succeeded to the contract. Between August 16 and September 10, 1904, the sampling company sent various lots of ore to the mill for treatment aggregating 4,000,000 pounds and valued at $52,259.

The case is of vital interest to the creditors of the General Metals company, for if the petition is granted it will take the value of the ore from the assets of the company, leaving over $50,000 less with which to pay their claims.

Wolcott, Vaile & Waterman and Attorney Ellis, of Rogers, Cuthbert & Ellis of Denver, are representing Trustee Duncan Chisholm. The creditors are represented by Judge E. C. Stimson of Denver, Lunt, Brooks & Willcox, Hall Babbitt & Thayer, and other prominent legal firms of this city. Arguments were begun yesterday afternoon upon the petition.

DENSLOW GREEN SATURDAY EVENING

Denslow and Associates Open Bonanza Vein.

RUNS $1,000 TO THE TON

WHILE RUSTLING FOR ENOUGH ORE TO KEEP CYANIDE MILL RUNNING THEY MAKE THIS STRIKE.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 13.—Denslow and associates who sometime ago secured a lease on the Santa Rita property, located just west of the town of Victor, have opened up 18 inches of ore in the 250-foot level that their assays show will average $1,000 to the ton, which places this old-time producer again in the shipping list.

The lessees who are developing the property from several different points encountered the ore body in the floor of the drift, and while the same ore shoot was worked above it has never been followed down so the lessees are satisfied that it will not only persist with depth but will gain in width which nearly guarantees them regular shipments for some time to come.

The shaft which has reached a depth of 450 feet has been worked off and on during the past few years by a number of different lessees. This good stuff was overlooked by everyone and was left for the present operators to clean up a good profit. The property has been a popular one with lessees, as a few years ago considerable high-grade ore was shipped from the mine. It now seems that it will again take its place among the paying mines of the camp.

The operators have recently installed a 35-ton capacity cyanide mill on the property and are doing considerable work in different parts of the mine in order to get the ore necessary to keep the mill working, and it was while mining the low grade ore that this rich streak was encountered.

Cripple Creek Consolidated Property on Gold Hill Continues to Show Up Well Under Development.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 13.—Conditions in the 400-foot level of the Sharp lease on the Cripple Creek Consolidated property located on Gold hill, show continual improvement as development work is pushed ahead. The lessee is now breaking what is known as the cross vein for a width of from four to five feet, the entire mass of rock averaging $100 to the ton without any sorting whatever.

MARY NEVIN LESSEES SEEKING C. K & N. VEIN

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 13.—Operations on the Mary Nevin property located on Rosebud hill are being pushed as fast as possible and the lessees are confident that with the necessary development they will cut the extension of the famous C. K. & N. vein. If the belief is justified it guarantees them a shipper for some time to come.

POVERTY GULCH MINE RESUMES DISBURSEMENTS

Poverty Gulch Mine Resumes Disbursements After Three Years.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 13.—The Gold King company, operating its property which is located in Poverty gulch, has resumed the payment of dividends after a suspension of dividends for over three years. The company having paid its last dividend in April, 1901, at which time it amounted to $28,105.58, while up to that time the sum of $262,318 had been paid.

The company struck a barren zone of over 200 feet of ground and worked for considerable time without any result whatever. It fought the water problem to a large extent for several years which was all a heavy drain on the treasury of the company. Since the barren zone was penetrated the ore bodies that have been encountered have been of such size and value that for some time past money has been flowing into the treasury. This justifies the directors in disbursing a part of the profits among the stockholders.

The Gold King mine was the first property to be opened in the district and with the exception of the time that the operators were passing through this barren zone the mine has been producing ore continually. Up to the latter part of 1901 a gross ore production had been made that came within a very few dollars of the one million mark.

The company has a good-sized acreage which is considered to be among the best in the district and in all probability dividends will be paid regularly from this on.

WHIPP GETS GOOD LEASE

VALUABLE PROPERTIES BONDED TO WELL-KNOWN OPERATOR — CONSIDERATION IS NAMED AS $30,000.

Special to the Gazette.

The lease is for a term of two years while the bond calls for the sum of $30,000, the option being secured from Anna L. Neville.

The papers in the deal have been filed with the county clerk and recorder and call for the sum of $10,000 to be deposited with the First National bank of Denver on or before January 5, 1906, the remaining $20,000 to be paid at the same place on or before July 5 following.

The lessees have agreed to do 60 shifts of work a month and to pay from 15 to 20 per cent royalties on all ore extracted.

How to Avoid Pneumonia.

We have never heard of a single instance of a cold resulting in Pneumonia or other lung trouble when Foley's Honey and Tar has been taken. It not only stops the cough but heals and strengthens the lungs. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. Dr. C. J. Bishop of Agnew, Mich., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case." For sale by Heffley-Arcularius Drug Co.

Jim J. Hill worked in a Canada store from the time of his father's death, while he was still a boy, until he was 18 years of age. Then he left Canada to seek his fortunes in the states. He settled in St. Paul, working as a shipping clerk. During this time he also obtained employment as a freight agent of the St. Paul and Pacific railroad. While engaged in these positions he gained knowledge and capital for establishing the Red River Transportation company, which paved the way for his later acquiring control of the St. Paul and Pacific.

STOCK MARKET SETS NEW MARK

TENDENCY IS UPWARD BUT INTEREST IS TORPID—NORTHERN SECURITIES STOCK MAKES NEW HIGH RECORD.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The feeble oscillations in the stock market were in an upward direction today. There were various nominal explanations for the new direction of the movement but there was warrant for the belief that the real reason was the simple one that prices had moved downward yesterday.

In the present torpid state of the public interest in the market, the professional traders whose operations make up the dealings, have no taste for following prices far in either direction hence the shortness of the vibrations. The opening transactions showed more animation and vigor than for several days past but most of the day's total dealings were included in the first and last hour of the trading.

A number of favorite stocks in the outside market maintained their recent predominant interest today and their movements were the determining influence upon those of a number of stocks on the stock exchange itself. Northern Securities and Interborough Rapid Transit both shot up violently to new high records with corresponding effect on their allied stocks on the stock exchange.

The promise of an expansion of upwards of $10,000,000 in the cash holdings of the banks for the week increased the strength of the market in the late dealings. The strength continued to center largely in Union Pacific but its buoyant upshoot made the closing firm throughout and at about the best level of the day.

Bonds were firm. Total sales par value, $5,625,000.

FAVORABLE CROP ADVICES FROM ARGENTINA AND WINTER WHEAT BELT OF UNITED STATES THE CAUSE.

CHICAGO, Jan. 13. Favorable crop advices from Argentina formed the chief cause of a weak wheat market here today. Final quotations on May wheat showed a loss of ¾. Corn is up ⅛@¼, oats are practically unchanged. Provisions are up 5 to 7½.

Sentiment in the wheat pit throughout the entire session was bearish. At the opening it was ¼@½ to ¾@⅞ at $1.15¾ to $1.16⅛. The initial weakness was due largely to a sharp decline at Liverpool resulting from bearish advices as to crops in Argentina. Another factor, however, which had considerable influence was the well protected condition of winter wheat in the United States, reports from the west and southwest being unanimous in the assertion that the heavy snow of the past 48 hours would be a great benefit.

About the only item of bullish tenor was the continued light receipts in the northwest. During the greater part of the session pit traders were free sellers, and early in the day there was considerable selling by commission houses in stop loss orders. After trading was well under way the market rallied some on fair liberal purchases by a leader of the longs. May advanced to $1.16¾@⅞. When this support was withdrawn the market yielded to the general bearishness, May dropping to $1.15⅝. Some recovery was made on renewed buying by the same operator, but the market closed easy. Final quotations on May were at $1.16⅛@¼.

Small receipts and light country acceptances furnished the incentive of fair buying of corn by commission houses, resulting in a firm market, May closed at 44⅝@¾.

Firmness of corn had a steadying effect on oats. May opened ⅛@¼ lower at 30⅞ to 31, sold up to $31⅝@¾ and closed at the highest point.

The provisions market experienced a considerable revival of interest, trading today being of a fairly large volume. At the close May pork and ribs were each up 7½ at $12.70 and $6.72½ respectively. Lard was 5 higher at $6.87½.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some some a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

—Much depends, our one's point of view. A man can become as blase in the backwoods as he can amid the excitements of the great metropolis. Here is an illustration from the Sunday Magazine: A city cousin who was entertaining a rural relative asked him if he had ever been to the opera. "Ever been?" exclaimed Jabez. "Why I've took in every opery that's ever exhibited in this opery house, for the last 40 years, from 'Ten Nights in the Barroom' and the 'Swiss Bell-Ringers' clear to the hypnotizers and the learned pigs."

THINKS A NEGRO TRIED TO SET HIM ON FIRE.

Active search on the part of the police has failed to discover the person who threw a shovelfull of live coals on "Bob" Taylor's breast while he was in an unconscious state of intoxication Tuesday night. No efforts, however, will be spared on the part of the officers to bring the guilty parties to justice. Taylor called on Dr. C. S. Morrison yesterday morning and had his burns dressed. He still sticks to his original story and thinks it was a negro who did the deed.

SHOT THROUGH HAND IN RELOADING REVOLVER.

ANIMALS AND FIRE.

Most animals are afraid of fire and will fly from it in terror. To others there is a fascination about a flame, and they will walk into it, even though tortured by the heat. A horse in a burning stable goes mad with fear, but a dog is as cool in a fire as at any time. He keeps his nose down to the floor, where the air is purest, and sets himself calmly to finding his way out. Cats in fires howl piteously. They hide their faces from the light and crouch in corners. When their rescuer hits them they are as a rule quite docile and subdued, never biting or scratching. Birds seem to be hypnotized by fire and keep perfectly still; even the loquacious parrot in a fire has nothing to say. Cows, like dogs, do not show alarm. They are easy to lead forth, and often find their way out themselves.—Chicago Journal.

IMPORTED DOLLARS.

One evening I was sitting with an Italian friend in a restaurant, and we were discussing American laws and restrictions, at which he was very much inclined to scoff.

"Did you ever see a dollar that is not a dollar?" said he. I shook my head, and he rolled across the table to me a silver coin. It seemed to me to be a dollar. I examined it with every care, and getting another from the cash register compared the two. They were exactly alike in weight, sound, color, milling and all. At last I got them confused, and only my friend was able to point out which was which.

"That is what we call a Palermo dollar," he said. "Do you remember some years ago that western silver miners were caught taking about $7,000,000 worth of silver into the Nevada city mint, and having it turned into money without being recorded? Well, that is just what is going on in Palermo today, with variations. Silver is brought in San Luis Potosi, Mexico, or thereabout, shipped to Paris, then to Palermo, and minted with reasonable privacy. The dollars are jumbled with stones to nick them and laid in greased clay, then come over here in third-class baggage for distribution. They cost about 43 cents and defy detection except that the nicks are too similar, and it is said that the M on the neck is not quite deep enough, and the L in Pluribus is a thousandth of an inch crooked. You know every counterfeiter makes some little mistake."—Collyers Weekly.

A KING'S PROMISE.

In Belgium there is no capital punishment says Medical Talk for the Home. The death sentence is often pronounced, but it is never executed. The statutes prescribe an extreme penalty, but it is only carried out constructively, the condemned person being regarded in the eyes of the law as dead, but is permitted to live, serving out a life sentence in imprisonment.

The reason for this strange state of affairs is that King Leopold promised his mother when she was dying that he would never sign his name to a death warrant. Death has been pronounced upon many a criminal since that time, but the death warrant has remained unsigned by the king. A great many efforts have been made to persuade King Leopold to make an exception to his promise. This was especially urged upon him in the case of three anarchists who had been condemned by the law to die, and although petitions signed by thousands of his subjects were presented, he would not yield, but remained faithful to the promise made to his dying mother.

IMPERFECT DIGESTION

Means less nutrition and in consequence less vitality. When the liver fails to secrete bile, the blood becomes loaded with bilious properties, the digestion becomes impaired and the bowels constipated. NOTICE.
To the Stockholders of the Defender Gold Mining company, also the Defender Mines company, being one and the same interests:
You are hereby notified that the company has asked, by circular, for a voluntary assessment of one dollar per thousand shares, to cancel the debts and taxes of the Defender Mines company. Very few stockholders have responded to this call. Those that have, however, will be protected, and those who fail to pay the one dollar per thousand voluntary assessment, as per circular sent out by order of the board of directors, will forfeit their stock. A deed of trust will be given to the public trustee for the amount of indebtedness standing against the company. If the stockholders fail to advance the funds asked for, at the expiration of the time the property will be sold for the benefit of those stockholders who contributed the voluntary assessment. The stocks of those who fail to pay will be placed in the treasury of a new company which will be formed. The directors of the company have endeavored to reach its stockholders by circular, and only about one-fourth of the capital stock has responded; therefore, in order to save the property, it falls on the board to take these steps.
